

District Executive

The Denver Area Council is hiring entry-level unit-serving executives. If you know a recent college graduate or individual who is passionate about the business of Scouting, please let them know that we are hiring.

District Executive Role

Several thousand professional Scouters lead, guide, and facilitate the efforts of hundreds of thousands of adult volunteers on whom Scouting depends on to carry out its mission. It is the job of the professional Scouter to inspire, recruit, train, have fun, and support the BSA's volunteers, in addition to working with community leaders and rallying public support for Scouting's activities.

Responsibilities

The professional Scouter is assigned to a district or service area within a local council. Your district or service area is sustained and successful through your ability to recruit, supervise and work with local volunteers. If you have skills in human relations, public relations, marketing, fundraising, business management, or sales, then you should consider taking the opportunity to become a commissioned professional in the Denver Area Council, BSA.

Compensation and Benefits

The Denver Area Council offers a benefits package considered to be among the best in the nonprofit sector. The package includes major medical, dental, vision, and prescription coverage in addition to long-term disability, accident, life insurance, and a matching contribution plan towards your retirement. The starting salary is $48,000 annually.

The basic qualifications needed to become a Scouting professional are:

- Bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university
- People-oriented, having the ability to work well with adult volunteers, community and business leaders, and representatives of other organizations
- Able to work varied hours when necessary to achieve positive objectives
- Believe in the BSA and subscribe to its principles and standards

To learn more about working with the Boy Scouts of America as an executive, visit the national employment page on the Boy Scouts of America website at www.scouting.org

To apply for this position, submit your resume to Mike Fifhause at mike.fifhause@scouting.org